Read the following passage and answer the questions, based on what is stated or implied in the passage: Declassification of government documents has shed new light on the events comprising the Cuban Missile Crisis of October 1962. Prior to the accessibility of these records, the only source of account of the Crisis for scholars and historians were the personal memoirs and narratives of the officials who served under Kennedy and Krushchev during this period. Many of declassified documents are transcriptions and notes of meetings between members of the CIA and President Kennedy's Cabinet, as well as the President himself. The revelations in these documents have demonstrated the inadvertent inaccuracies and intended obscurities inherent in the first-person narratives of the Crisis, and has aided historians from all three countries involved in the Crisis to get a more authentic representation of what truly transpired, and for what reasons. Of perhaps the most interest to historians are declassified correspondence between John F. Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev that challenge the idea that the height of the Crisis extended only over the course of Khrushchev that challenge the idea that the height of the Crisis extended only over the course of thirteen days. Indeed, these letters indicate that the Crisis was far from resolved by Khrushchev's

October 28 decision to withdraw the Soviet Missiles from Cuba; instead it endured far into the following month, while slept fitfully under the illusion of peace.

The Author is mainly concerned with

1

Petitioning the government to make all classified documents of historic interest accessible to the general public.

2

Discounting the sense of danger many Americans felt during the Cuban Missile Crisis

3

Revealing a calculated deception perpetrated by members of Kennedy's Cabinet.

4

Illustrating how previously accepted ideas based on hearsay are being refuted by concrete evidence.

The author's use of the phrase "inadvertent inaccuracies and intended obscurities" suggests all of the following EXCEPT historical record is often skewed by human perception

2

details of the Crisis were purposely omitted or vague

3

every politician deals in deception and prevarication

A CPU has an arithmetic unit that adds bytes and then sets its V, C and Z flag as follows:

V-bit is set if arithmetic overflow occurs

C-bit is set if carry-out is generated from the most significant bit

Z-bit is set if the result is zero

What are the values of V, C and Z flag bits respectively after the 8-bit bytes

The main disadvantage of direct mapping of cache organization is that

1 It doesn't allow simultaneous access to the intended data and its tag

2 It is more expensive than other type of organization

3

The cache hit ratio is degraded if two or more blocks used alternatively map onto the same block frame in the cache.

4 The number of blocks required for the caches increases linearly with the size of the main memory.
